

RAG Test Fixture

Unapplied labor is the amount of time you are paying for but not collecting from a customer. This happens when flat-rate technicians finish their work early. In a healthy service shop you want hours billed to exceed hours paid, not the other way around.